VICE CHANCELLOR'S MESSAGE FOR 2012 CLASS

We, members of Strathmore University, have been looking forward to sharing with the Class of 2012 this truly momentous occasion and it is a real joy to convey our congratulations to each one of you. We join you in saying thanks to your parents, sponsors and lecturers- the people who did so much to make today's auspicious day come true. It is truly a time to celebrate, but you must remember that graduation is not the end; it's the beginning.

Your schooling may be over, but remember that your education still continues. And now your classroom will be the community, the work place, the ordinary circumstances of your daily life-this is where learning will now take place for many of you. You will add value to this class if you bring with you some of the experiential lessons you have learnt during the years you have been in Strathmore-the spirit of service, love for the truth, hard work, honesty, entrepreneurial spirit and high moral standards. In your professional life settle for nothing less than excellence. If you meet this challenge you will be responsible for perhaps the most dramatic revolution in the economic and cultural history of our country.

This year's graduation is taking place at a time when our country is entering the period of electioneering. It is a time when the people of our country need to live in peace and harmony more than at any other time. We wish to live as one people united in the common vision of making Kenya a place where all of our communities and tribes with diverse cultural heritage, can live together with human dignity and respect for one another for the common good of all our people. This is what the University's motto – Ut Omnes Unum Sint – That All May Be One, espouses; and it is what underlies the University's openness and commitment to the promotion of cultural, religious, ethnic and political diversity.

Graduation booklet A5 landscape 2 OUTLINE.indd 2 25/06/2012 12:51:40

May the light contained in the University's motto shine brighter and brighter in your life as you join other Kenyans in shaping an exciting future for our country. Use the education you acquired here to promote and foster understanding among the communities that you may engage in the course of your professional work. Initiate and lead social projects that can help to foster understanding, harmony and social cohesion among these communities. Each one of us has a duty to do something, and we cannot abscond!

Strathmore continues to progress and shape outstanding graduates who are serving our country with distinction and exemplary patriotism .This will always be your University. You will always remain part of the Strathmore family, and as the years pass, this University will always give you reason to be proud. I want you to continue contributing to all Strathmore's successes nationally and internationally by becoming active and vibrant alumni.

On behalf of the entire Strathmore University family I wish to express our gratitude to all of you, your parents and sponsors, for your contribution in diverse ways in making Strathmore a truly fine University with acclaimed international distinction. Strathmore is proud of your achievements and you should be proud of your own achievements too. We are proud of your outstanding performance in academic work, in sports, in community service, in club activities, and in entrepreneurial initiatives.

Prof. John Odhiambo
