GRADUATION 2015

THE ALL-ROUND GRADUAND

Strathmore UNIVERSITY

Coat of Arms

Strathmore UNIVERSITY

The Lion is the symbol of strength and courage, and of the determined fight for excellence and justice. It also represents Kenya, our country, which strives to attain all the qualities mentioned above.

The Three Hearts represent the three races which, in 1961 when the University started, were segregated in the colonial system of education. The heart represents the person, since it is taken as the source of all our actions, and the source of love. The fact that the three hearts all have the same colour shows the equality of all people and their aim to love and understand each other. At the beginning it clearly pointed at the target of racial unity. Today it symbolises the common aim of parents, teachers and students in the educational process of Strathmore.

The Rose in full bloom represents love, the source of all good desires and actions, even if at times this means loving sacrifice, as represented by the thorns. The rose has a supernatural meaning too. Love, with capital letters, is love of God. The rose also has a historical meaning associated with the life of Saint Josemaría Escrivá, founder of Opus Dei, who inspired and encouraged the people who started Strathmore: he once received a divine sign in the form of a carved gilded rose in a very trying moment of his life.

The Motto "Ut omnes unum sint" is Latin. It is a quotation from a passage of the Gospel, and means "That all may be one". It expresses our desire to work together towards the same aim, in spite of personal differences or opinion, tastes and backgrounds. The colours in heraldry (the science dealing with coats of arms) have associated meanings as follows:

Yellow (Gold) Gold means eternity, perfection.
Blue (Azure) Sky blue means high ideals, high aims.
Red (Gules) Blood red means sacrifice, love, fortitude.

The foundations of Strathmore University

Strathmore University has a rich history and heritage being the first multi-racial and multi-religious institution in pre-colonial Kenya in 1961 offering A 'Level subjects in Sciences & Arts.

Back then, races were not allowed to mix under colonial rules of government at that time; Kenya was a colony under the British rule. Kenya gained its independence in 1963, and those who previously held government positions left, creating a huge gap lacking Kenyans to take up positions in government and private sector. Strathmore 'A' Level College was situated in Lavington area at Mzima Springs Road (then called Strathcona Road, hence the choice of the name 'Strathmore') then.

Strathmore was founded under the inspiration of St. Josemaria Escriva, founder of Opus Dei, a personal prelature within the hierarchy of the Catholic Church. The aim of Opus Dei, is to live fully a Christian vocation and to have its members (majority of who are lay) operate in every country in the world emphasizing the fact that all human activities be well done for the glory of God.With this in mind individuals strive to offer their work to God. The founders of Strathmore – some members of Opus Dei with others - created a trust; Strathmore Educational Registered Trust which manages the institution with assistance of relevant management bodies.

A few years after Kenya gained its independence, the board of trustees felt the need to grow the number of accountants from the few African accountants available in the newly independent state. With the A' Level program that Strathmore had been running well, coupled with sound advice from professionals in the accounting field, Strathmore took the opportunity to start an accounting class with a group of 25 students in 1966. The number of students interested in taking the course increased as the program became popular across the country.

Over the years, Strathmore A 'Level college evolved to meet existing needs over the last 50 years in alignment with country needs. It started a secondary school in 1970s and a primary school the 1980s. It was not until 1992 that Strathmore College of Accountancy merged with Kianda College (then a women's' secretarial college) that the current campus facility came to be. Strathmore University has one campus at Madaraka area, 5 kilometers from Central Business District; it wasbuilt on land donated to the college by the Government of Kenya in 1989. The buildings and equipment of the initial buildings were funded by the European Union and the Italian Government.

The foundations of Strathmore University

Strathmore's educational offering caters for an ever expanding range of careers. Among them are business, commerce, leadership...

Teaching

In line with its vision to provide all-round quality education in an atmosphere of freedom and responsibility; excellence in teaching, research and scholarship, ethical and social development and service to the society, Strathmore University offers undergraduate and postgraduate programs across several academic divisions, with a focus of providing a holistic education that caters for all facets of the human being.

Strathmore's educational offering caters for an ever expanding range of careers. Among them are business, commerce, leadership, management, policy, healthcare management, law, computer and information technology, hospitality & tourism management and finance & applied economics. The University's programs, are well complemented with a strong offering of humanities offered by the School of Humanities & Social Sciences to further augment an understanding of the human person, work, family, society, institutions, ethics and governance. This is further complemented with relevant professional qualifications, designed to provide students with specialist qualifications such as ACCA, CPA among others that are sought after by industries and professions, and to ensure they are 'career ready' for the global workforce.

To ensure these outcomes are achieved, students work closely with researchers in research-rich environments, undertake placement-based industrial attachment engagement and learn through the delivery of service to the community. The success of this approach is reflected by the fact that more than 50% of the University's graduates currently in full-time work are employed in professional occupations, and that its graduate employment rate remains above the Kenyan university average.

Research

Strathmore's reputation of excellence in research excellence continues to grow, as shown by its ability to attract sought after collaborations and partnerships with global universities and organisations with multinational companies based in Kenya. In addition, the University is home to a range of dedicated research institutes and centres, and is a key partner in a number of consortia-type of research centres that, in collaboration with industry and government, are focused on helping to deliver practical and enduring solutions to real-world problems.

Service to society

Strathmore University makes a profound contribution, at all levels, to the community's social, intellectual, economic and cultural development. Whereas all lectures, seminars and research projects that the University presents offer informed viewpoints on key national & global issues, the University has ensured that the engagement to society is ingrained in its graduates by embedding a compulsory 200 hours service by all undergraduate students within the duration of the degree. Further to this, there is a dedicated office that coordinates the community activities that enrich students' experiences by ensuring that they engage with less privileged by giving their time, resources or both.

Vice Chancellor's Message for 2015 Class

I congratulate you most warmly on your momentous achievement, and join you in saying thanks to your parents, sponsors and lecturers.

The degree or diploma you receive today is significant not only because of the expected financial return on investment, but more importantly, because of the personal and the intellectual growth, and the awareness of your civic responsibility, that you have experienced in the years of your attendance at this University. The educational experience Strathmore offered you during the years you have been in the University was intended to impart a spirit of service, love for the truth, hard work, honesty, entrepreneurial attitude and high moral standards and to prepare you to be exemplary 'citizens of the world'.

As you commence your various professional careers, immerse yourselves in the 'world' and be exemplary citizens among your peers. Take up you professional work with a clear awareness of the needs of our society and a desire to serve. You must refuse to look upon professional work as a mere factor in production or an instrument for acquiring wealth or attaining prestige or power. You must defend your own dignity and that of everyone else. You must fight corruption and injustice and try always to see those around you as neighbours and not objects or servants. Strive always to exert positive influence in society through your work and behaviour, through all your actions.

As graduates of Strathmore University, you have received sound preparation to deal with the challenges our society is facing today with the daring, creativity and initiative necessary to create those new opportunities for your own future, for your own success. You are the bearers of the enduring legacy of service and excellence Strathmore has set and demonstrated through its numerous influential alumni who are serving our country with distinction and exemplary integrity in education, research, business, technology and public life.

I encourage you all to cherish the results of your hard work, but to also remember the experiences you've had, the relationships and friendships you cultivated and the life skills you take away from your time at SU. You will always remain part of the Strathmore family, and as the years pass, this University will always give you reason to be proud. I invite you to continue contributing to all Strathmore's successes nationally and internationally by becoming active and vibrant alumni.

And now on behalf of the Strathmore University family of which you will always be a part, and with all the applause that is your due, I release you into the world to serve and create wealth for our country and jobs for our people. Thank you!

Prof. John Odhiambo
