STRATHMORE UNIVERSITY IDENTITY

COAT OF ARMS

The Three Hearts represent the races which, in 1961 when the University started, were segregated in the colonial system of education. Today, it symbolises the common aim of parents, teachers and students in the educational process of Strathmore.

The Lion is the symbol of strength and courage and of the determined fight for excellence and justice. It also represents Kenya, the country Strathmore was founded in, which like many African countries strives boldly to attain all the qualities mentioned above.

The Rose in full bloom represents love, the source of all good desires and actions, even if at times this means loving sacrifice, as represented by the thorns.

Yellow: (Gold) Gold means eternity, perfection.

Blue: (Azure) Sky blue means high ideals, high aims.

Red: (Gules) Blood red means sacrifice, love, fortitude.

The Motto "Ut omnes unum sint" is Latin. It is a quotation from a passage of the Gospel, and means, "That all may be one."

THEME OF THE YEAR 2023

SUSTAINABILITY

CARING FOR PEOPLE AND PLANET

The theme for 2023 challenges us to reflect on our individual and collective responsibility to promote sustainability. The concept of sustainability has been articulated in various ways. The 1987 Brundtland Report called for mankind to reflect on 'Our common future' and work towards a development that meets the needs of the present without compromising the ability of future generations to meet their own needs. Pope Francis in his Encyclical Letter Laudato Si ("Praised Be"), reiterates the same call for sustainability, urging people from all cultures, races, and religious backgrounds to protect 'Our common home'.

We live in a world of great scientific advancements and progress which, when viewed from the perspective of new media technologies, can paint a picturesque image of equality and improvement for mankind. However, the incongruence in socio-economic development worldwide is undeniable; a huge percentage of people lack access to basic needs such as water, food, education, shelter, and electricity, to name but a few. Even within our community, we experience these socio-economic disparities, yet we share Strathmore as our common home.

As an emerging economy, Kenya is working towards bridging these socio-economic gaps prevalent across society. As is common in countries focused on economic growth, the environmental impact of development projects such as road infrastructure, affordable housing, food security, etc. may be overlooked. This may at times lead to the attainment of short term gains that ignore the needs of future generations, undermining the notion of our common future.

The 17 United Nations Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs) are a witness to the fact that all is not lost; humanity still has the ability to work together in building our common home. The SDGs are a practical call to action for actualizing sustainability. The key aims are to end poverty and inequality, protect the planet and ensure that all enjoy health, justice and prosperity.

Core to the mission of Strathmore University is the provision of a holistic education that prepares free and responsible citizens whose vision of societal development encompasses all its facets, including the economic, social, environmental and ethical paradigms. The Strathmore brand has been deliberate in its education offering, ensuring that ours is an integral education encompassing elements such as:

- An entrepreneurial mind-set; social enterprises, and business incubation of start-up businesses,
- Service to society; service-based learning; community outreach projects, among others,
- Environmental awareness; renewable energy, environmental club, research, UNPRME (Principles for Responsible Management of Education), UNESCO Chair.

We have had many ongoing initiatives that touch on the theme of sustainability. It is our hope that, as a University, we can, through this year's theme, be more intentional and deliberate in embedding sustainability in all aspects of SU's strategy, raising awareness and ownership of the sustainability of our common home.

GRADUATE SPEAKER VALEDICTORIAN SPEECH 2023

Today, we gather here as the Class of 2023, marking the culmination of our incredible journey at Strathmore University. We have journeyed through the halls of this institution, and now, we find ourselves at the height of endless possibilities. It is an honour and a privilege to stand before you as the Valedictorian, representing the hopes, dreams, and achievements of our remarkable graduating class.

When we first set foot on this campus, we were a group of diverse individuals, each with our own dreams and aspirations. Yet, over the years, we have forged an unbreakable bond, becoming a tight-knit community driven by a shared purpose—excellence. The path we have trodden has been filled with challenges, sleepless nights, and moments of doubt. However, it is precisely in those moments that we have grown the most, developing resilience, perseverance, and an unwavering determination to succeed.

Strathmore University has provided us with not just a world-class education but also a holistic experience that extends beyond the confines of the classroom. We have been blessed with outstanding faculty and mentors who have guided us, encouraged us to question the status quo, and pushed us beyond our limits. They have ignited our curiosity, nurtured our talents, and prepared us to be adaptable in a rapidly changing world.

Moreover, our University has instilled in us a sense of responsibility—a call to serve and make a positive impact on society. From the countless community outreach programs to the innovative projects that have tackled real-world challenges, Strathmore University has instilled in us the belief that we have a vital role to play in shaping a better future. Let us carry this spirit of service forward being apt catalysts for change as we step into the next phase of our lives.

We must also not forget the support we have received throughout this journey. Our families and friends have been pillars of strength, providing unwavering encouragement, love, and understanding. They have been our biggest cheerleaders, celebrating our victories and comforting us in times of defeat. Join me in giving them a round of applause as we express our heartfelt appreciation for their unwavering support.

At this point, we must acknowledge that we not only celebrate our individual achievements but also recognize the collective accomplishments of this graduating class. We have excelled in fields ranging from business and technology to arts and sciences. We have conducted groundbreaking research, initiated social enterprises, and championed causes that will shape the world we live in. As we prepare to embark on diverse career paths, let us remember the lessons we have learned here—the value of collaboration, the power of diversity, and the importance of ethical leadership.

The world we enter may seem uncertain, characterised by rapid advancements, complex challenges, and ever-changing landscapes. We will face setbacks, failures, and moments of self-doubt, but it is in these moments that our resilience and determination will shine through. As graduates of Strathmore University, we are equipped with the tools, knowledge, and skills to not just navigate this world but to make a profound difference in it. We must remember that every great achievement is born out of perseverance and the willingness to learn from our mistakes. Let us not be content with mediocrity, but rather strive for greatness in all our endeavours.

In closing, I would like to express my deepest gratitude to the faculty, staff, and administration of Strathmore University for their steadfast support and dedication to our success. To our families and friends, thank you for your love, encouragement, and sacrifices that have brought us to this moment.

Congratulations once again, Class of 2023. May our future endeavours be filled with endless opportunities, boundless joy, and the fulfilment of all our dreams! Our time at Strathmore may have come to an end, but our impact on the world is just beginning. Together, let us make it extraordinary.

Thank you.

CHAIR, UNIVERSITY COUNCIL GRADUATION SPEECH 2023

I am honoured to be making my remarks on this special day that marks the end of your current academic journey. It is a special day, not just for you Class of 2023, but also for faculty and administrative staff of Strathmore University, and for your family members who have come to witness and celebrate your achievement. They have all worked hard to ensure that you are here today.

Allow me to emphasize the value of solid families. Family, as you know, plays a pivotal role in community, without which, the very foundation of society would be compromised. You are here today because of your family which has been your pillar of strength and unwavering support system in good and not-so-good times. As you celebrate today, and move on to greater achievements in career or business, never forget the profound impact your family has. Be grateful always for their love and sacrifice, and in your turn, be intentional in perpetuating strong families.

The next phase of your life will be one of change. Human beings are constantly changing, growing, transforming and transitioning. Change is relative to time and a natural component of our everyday life; undoubtedly, you expect that many changes will occur during your lifetime. In the current age of dynamic technological changes, society today continues to experience a dizzying speed of changes impacting our lives, lifestyles, ways of thinking, feelings and the way we act. I urge you to be agile and embrace those changes that add value to your life, and work. Be wary of picking new ideologies and ideas that are contrary to the values you have been taught. At all times, strive to keep your families together, even amidst a constantly changing world.

Allow me to mention a few of the achievements that have taken place in this academic year. In a bid to upgrade our facilities, we're now expanding the Engineering laboratories and are on course towards the Kevin O'Byrne STEM complex. In regard to new academic programmes, we recently launched two programmes: a Bachelor of Science in Statistics and Data Science as well as a Master in Spectrum Management, in order to meet the growing demand in data science driven by big data and analytics and industry trends in spectrum management.

In the area of impactful collaborations and partnerships with industry, our recent partnership by Strathmore Business School (SBS) and the Association for the Physically Disabled of Kenya (APDK) to launch the Entrepreneurship Accelerator Programme for Persons with Disability, is geared towards service to society. In addition, our SBS-USAID Kenya Small Business Development Centers continue to assist Kenyan MSMEs by offering advisory services, enabling them to leverage local and export market opportunities. I mention just a few, and commend the Management Board and staff who have put great efforts towards all the good initiatives in the University.

To you, Class of 2023! I challenge you to maximize your full potential. Embrace life-long learning, one of the core values of SU. Do not stop your quest for the next level of education and professional accreditations in your chosen area of study. Join the alumni association and be an active member. Be an enthusiastic and active participant in your own learning and growing.

True friendship is a treasure. Don't forget the friends you have made and be intentional in nurturing friendships along your journey of life. Continue to care – care about your family and, wherever the next chapters in your life story may take you, ensure it is a journey of love.

Mrs. Bernadette Musundi

Chair, University Council

VICE-CHANCELLOR'S MESSAGE FOR CLASS OF 2023

Class of 2023, congratulations on this momentous occasion! It may not have fully hit you yet, but you are now equipped with the knowledge and skills to make a real difference in the world. And with that power comes a huge responsibility – the responsibility to take care of our people and planet, and to ensure a sustainable future for all.

Six decades ago, Strathmore was started as a multiracial college. We were pioneers in the region, bringing together all three major races into one classroom and one living quarter. Our Founder's message of working together, despite personal differences of opinion, tastes and backgrounds was inspired by Scripture (John 17:21), and in turn inspired our motto: Ut omnes unum sint – That all may be one. It is from this vision and our theme for 2023, Sustainability - Caring for People and Planet, that I draw inspiration for my remarks on this truly beautiful day for you, graduands, and your families.

Sustainability is about meeting the needs of the present without compromising the ability of future generations to meet their own needs. We are conscious of the unity between us, our forebears, and those who will come after us. We are also conscious of the inextricable connection between people, planet, and profit. It's all about making conscious choices that will have a positive impact on the environment, society, and even ourselves!

We live in a world that is facing unprecedented challenges, from climate change to social inequality. But more than ever before, we also live in a world where we truly have the power to make a difference and to create a sustainable future for ourselves and for generations to come.

As you enter the workforce, you will be faced with many choices. You will have the opportunity to work for companies that prioritise sustainability and social responsibility and to reject those that don't. You will have the chance of creating innovative solutions to help us tackle huge challenges, rather than remaining indifferent.

But sustainability is not just something that we do at work. It is something that we do in our daily lives. It's about reducing our carbon footprint, conserving resources, and being mindful of our impact on the environment. It's about supporting local businesses, volunteering in our communities, and advocating for change. It's not so much something you do as it is a way of life.

Choosing to be truly human is choosing to be sustainable! Do something for a friend or stranger and you will discover that you and your happiness are inseparably linked to the wider community. You have gone through your academic mentorship here in the company of friends and colleagues from over 40 nationalities who are now part of your community. You have learnt from an inclusive culture, and I hope as you head out into the world, you will be kind and compassionate to others. I hope you will see that there is wonder in being part of something bigger than yourself and there is magic to be found in the service of others. I urge you to be good stewards of the planet we inhabit and participants in the fight to make it better, more equal, more accessible, and more just.

This chapter of your academic journey may have ended, but your journey of impact has just begun. I believe that the unique set of experiences and learning that each of you has accumulated prepares you uniquely for a mission that you now need to discover. Frederick Buechner conceived callings as the intersection between what you deeply desire and what the world greatly needs. Find the cause with your name written on it, then dedicate yourself wholeheartedly to it - no matter how hard it looks. That will be your ticket to happiness.

As you say goodbye to your school days and hello to the unknown, remember the friendships you've made, the lessons you've learnt, and the memories you've created. May you always look back on this moment with pride and gratitude, knowing that you have the power to shape your future and make a difference in the world. And know that in Strathmore, you will always have a home.

So, Class of 2023, take on the world with all the courage and determination you can master. Here's to a bright future filled with endless possibilities. Congratulations! You did it!

"The place God calls you to is the place where your deep gladness and the world's deep hunger meet."
(Frederick Buechner)

PRO-CHANCELLOR'S GRADUATION SPEECH 2023

Dear Graduating Class of 2023!

Today marks a significant milestone in your lives as your big dreams begin to see the light of day. We join you in your excitement as you celebrate your achievements wanting to embrace all that the world has prepared for you. As you stand ready to embark on new adventures, may you also take time to reflect on the many themes that have guided your journey at this institution: the pillars and values that define who we are at Strathmore University. That way, as you step out into the world armed with your knowledge and skills, you will consider it your duty to be the change agents, the champions of a sustainable future.

For you, sustainability is not merely a buzzword, especially given that it is precisely the theme that all of us at Strathmore have been working with since the beginning of this year: Sustainability—caring for people and the planet. It is indeed a powerful theme that resonates with our aspirations and responsibilities as educated individuals. By now, you have come to see it as a call to action, a vision for a harmonious coexistence between humanity and the environment. Our planet is facing challenges that continue to threaten this harmony and we must see ourselves as the torchbearers, the catalysts who will make a difference.

Caring for people means advocating for social justice, equality, and inclusivity. It means recognizing the inherent worth and dignity of every person, irrespective of their gender, race, or socioeconomic background. May we all continue to live up to our responsibility to ensure that no one is left behind as we strive to play our part in creating a society that provides equal opportunities for all. Let us use our talents and acquired knowledge well in this effort to empower communities, fight against discrimination, and foster an environment that celebrates diversity.

We do know that sustainability is not solely an individual endeavour. It will always call for collaboration, cooperation, and collective action. As graduates of Strathmore University, you have been equipped with the skills to work together, engage in dialogue, and find innovative solutions. Indeed, many of you graduating today would tell us that after studying in this institution, you are now aware that the true value of your education lies in the passions you have developed during your years at Strathmore University. Part of it has been shaped by the motto of this University: ut omnes unum sint, that is latin for may they all be one. Let us unite our knowledge, our passion, and our commitment to creating a world that is socially just and environmentally conscious.

Graduation is not an endpoint but a beginning—a launchpad for us to make a positive impact. As we embark on this new chapter, let us remember to try to be the change we wish to see in the world. We have the power to shape the future we want to live in. So, let us go forth, armed with the values of sustainability, and let our actions speak louder than our words. Together with you, we all count on the help of God who will never fail us if, on our part, we seek to respond with generosity. Thank you.

"I got guidance, built networks, made friends who are now a close second to family (you know, the gazebos and STC 'tea' family haha), and enjoyed the serenity of a wonderful ambience. To many more!"

Anna Jessica,

"A sincere shoutout to the Financial Aid Office for presenting me with the opportunity to undertake my studies at Strathmore University through a sports scholarship. Being engaged actively in clubs and sports (mostly rugby) opened me up to meeting new people and travelling. In the end, learning to balance and manage my time was the true sport- a great skill. Being a Stratizen was a total transformative experience!"

"Getting admitted to SU was a dream come true. The exposure, which included an exchange programme to the Netherlands for six months prepared me for the job market. Forever grateful!"

Felix Namayi,

"My heart is full... there is a lot to go home with. The incredible practical hospitality lessons definitely translated into me wearing that Chef's coat and hat. MASTERS IN SPECTRUM MANAGEMENT

Wireless technology now drives the development and diversification of information and communication services for governments, industry and the public. The wireless sector is believed to have a significant contribution to the Gross Domestic Product (GDP) of national economies. The social impact of new wireless services from smart phones and mobile Internet to radio frequency identification tags and wireless car keys cannot be overstated. However, this rapid evolution of wireless services depends on one crucial asset: the radio spectrum, a limited resource of strategic importance. This Course has therefore been developed collaboratively by Strathmore University and the International Telecommunication Union (ITU).

The Master's in Spectrum Management will offer students a solid system of training in the theory and practice of modern Spectrum Management (SM). Based on an overview of the current situation, the programme will create a unique and credible niche, complementing the existing professional Spectrum Management training options and promoting the harmonization of Spectrum Management practices.

Expected Learning Outcomes

1. To acquire a detailed understanding of SM and its practical realisation in a complex, multi-layered structure of international, regional and national levels.
2. To understand the role and functions of the different stakeholders involved and the legal framework underpinning all the interactions.
3. To gain expertise in the role and operational principles of authorisation processes (licensing) for radio services.
4. To gain a detailed understanding of the interdisciplinary aspects (technical, business, management and policy) of Spectrum Management.
5. To assess how knowledge is enhanced by research potentially leading to further progression and PhD research studies.
