STRATHMORE UNIVERSITY IDENTITY

COAT OF ARMS

The Three Hearts represent the races which, in 1961 when the University started, were segregated in the colonial system of education. Today, it symbolises the common aim of parents, teachers and students in the educational process of Strathmore.

The Lion is the symbol of strength and courage and of the determined fight for excellence and justice. It also represents Kenya, the country Strathmore was founded in, which like many African countries strives boldly to attain all the qualities mentioned above.

The Rose in full bloom represents love, the source of all good desires and actions, even if at times this means loving sacrifice, as represented by the thorns.

The Motto "Ut omnes unum sint" is Latin. It is a quotation from a passage of the Gospel (John 17:21), and means, "That all may be one."

Yellow: (Gold) Gold means eternity, perfection.

Blue: (Azure) Sky blue means high ideals, high aims.

Red: (Gules) Blood red means sacrifice, love, fortitude.

OUR MISSION AND VISION

To provide an all-round quality education in an atmosphere of freedom and responsibility, excellence in teaching, research and scholarship, ethical and social development and service to society.

To be a leading entrepreneurial University positively impacting society by doing excellent work.

OUR VALUES

Our values help create a culture where our students and staff feel supported, valued, respected and inspired. Our eight core values form the acronym SELF – SPEC.

SELF relates to the individual's relationship with oneself. Strathmore University's values must begin with SELF. Each staff member and student must strive to support the mission of the University, which is summarised as SELF: Service to Society; Excellence; Life-long learning; and Freedom and Responsibility.

SPEC relates to the individual's relationships with others. Each staff member and student must strive to espouse values that cultivate healthy relationships with others, summarised as SPEC: Subsidiarity; Personalised Attention; Ethical Practice; and Collegiality.

OUR SCHOOLS

THEME OF THE YEAR 2024

SUSTAINABILITY

CARING FOR PEOPLE AND PLANET

As we come together to commemorate the 20th Graduation Ceremony, it is with a deep sense of honour and reflection that we embark on this momentous occasion. This year, our theme, "Sustainability: Caring for People and Planet," stands as a testament to our enduring commitment to global stewardship and community responsibility.

In an era marked by unprecedented global challenges, the imperative to prioritise sustainability has never been more urgent. Our theme echoes the sentiments of last year's focus, emphasising the vital importance of nurturing both humanity and the environment. It is a reminder of our collective duty to safeguard the well-being of present and future generations.

"Sustainability" transcends mere rhetoric; it embodies a holistic ethos that resonates deeply within the fabric of our institution. At Strathmore University, we recognize the pivotal role we play in shaping a sustainable future. Thus, our theme serves as a clarion call to action, urging us to integrate sustainability into every facet of university life.

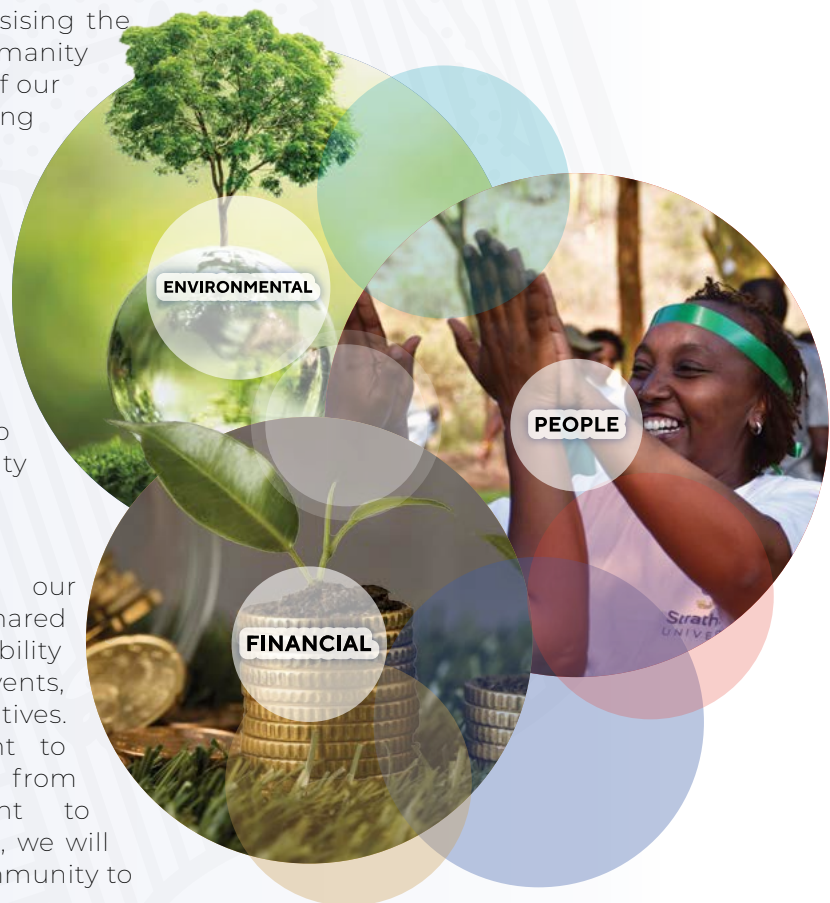

Throughout the academic year, our departments have united in a shared commitment to advance sustainability through teaching, research, events, workshops, and innovative initiatives. From reducing our carbon footprint to championing eco-friendly practices, from encouraging community upliftment to promoting responsible financial habits, we will harness the collective power of our community to effect positive change.

By embracing sustainability as a core value, we not only fulfil our institutional mission but also become catalysts for transformative impact on a global scale. As we continue with this collective journey, we are grateful to each and every one of you for your firm dedication and passion.

We have had many initiatives that touch on the theme of sustainability. It is our hope that, as a University, we can, through this year's theme, be more intentional and deliberate in embedding sustainability in all aspects of Strathmore University's strategy, raising awareness and ownership of the sustainability of our common home.

Let us seize this opportunity to celebrate our achievements and reaffirm our shared commitment to building a more sustainable and equitable world.

Congratulations

GRADUATE SPEAKER VALEDICTORIAN SPEECH 2024

I am honored to stand before you today and celebrate the class of 2024.

It feels like just yesterday when we were logging into our first Zoom session, staring at a mosaic of black screens, each one representing a classmate I had yet to meet in person. We navigated through a time unlike any other, where our introductions were through chat boxes and our classrooms were our bedrooms. Unlike those who came before us, our first face-to-face encounter wasn't in a bustling hallway or a vibrant classroom but during our exams. Talk about being thrown in the deep end! Yet, through these unique challenges, we forged a resilience and camaraderie that brought us to this very moment.

And yes, despite the back-to-back Zoom sessions, especially the group work where we collectively forgot how microphones worked, we persevered. We have grown from strangers who only knew each other through names and pictures, to strong friends. We are a community that has bonded in so many different experiences and situations, supporting and negotiating our way in and out of many.

The past four years have been a rollercoaster of ups and downs. We have burned the midnight oil to work on research papers, last minute assignments and get together. And life has not been all about studies either - though it may have felt like a big part with deadlines and attendances to meet.

Our strathmore experience has also been a very social one. From campus-wide gatherings at movie nights and guest lectures, to smaller groupings with friends eating smochas and talking about our day at Siwaka.

Some of us have discovered their entrepreneurial spirits through the plethora of bake sales and others have discovered their inner shopaholic from the same.

We have made friends across faculties through engaging in a variety of clubs and activities. Our shared and different interests ultimately had us connected and always watching out for each other, even on somewhat nerve-wracking updates such as the release of exam results.

We have built an amazing community, with friends from countries we never thought of before we met them. And our shared experiences and struggles from fashion assistants to hours spent together in the Student Centre, have forged friendships and networks that will remain with us as we move forward.

And now, before I continue on to our future, I want us to celebrate just how far we have come. Our journeys to this day have been similar yet quite different. Everyone has had to overcome their stumbling blocks to make it to today. After all, my struggles with Introduction to Economics may have been very different from someone else's struggles with Introduction to Philosophy. Nonetheless, all the hard work we put in, the steps we have taken have led us to today. So, my fellow graduates, please let's put our hands together to celebrate us!

And a big shout out to our support systems: family, parents, guardians, friends, our lecturers, admin, and strathmore staff. You have all been a crucial part of our journey. So thank you all!

My fellow graduates, as we successfully move on to the next stage of our journeys, I want to remind you all that you can do anything you set your mind to. As a strathmore graduate you are leaving with a toolbox of values and skills. You have GRIT—we've all heard it in philosophy, and after the last four years, you most definitely have it. You have the ability to negotiate, thanks to all the extensions we have ever asked for. You have the amazing network you have built in the last four years. You have work experience and skills. You have kindness and empathy, and most importantly, you know your worth.

Class of 2024, as we take our next steps, whatever they may be, from jobs to pursuing a master's to running our own businesses, let's remember to always stay true to our values and continue to strive for excellence in everything we do. With our unique combination of knowledge, experience, and compassion, we have the power to make a positive impact on the world around us. Let's embrace the challenges ahead with confidence and determination.

Thank you.

CHAIR, UNIVERSITY COUNCIL GRADUATION SPEECH 2024

Today, we come together to celebrate the remarkable achievements of our graduates, whose hard work and dedication have brought us to this joyous occasion. This accomplishment is a testament not only to your academic prowess but also to your unwavering determination and resilience. Congratulations Class of 2024!

Our commitment to academic excellence remains unwavering. Strathmore University consistently upholds high standards and aims for improvement in all areas of teaching and learning. Allow me to reflect on some of the key highlights that have defined this academic year:

As you may know, the entire education sector is transitioning to a competence-based curriculum, emphasising the acquisition of practical skills and knowledge. We are already preparing for the 2029 cohort, who will be the first to join the University under this new curriculum. The challenge-based education approach has already begun to expose you to real time problems in a bid to impart critical thinking skills. We are also dedicated to tailoring our teaching methods to accommodate neurodivergent learners and promote inclusivity, ensuring that every student has the opportunity to succeed.

We recognise the immense value of collaboration with international universities. Such partnerships enrich our research capabilities and broaden our impact on a global scale. Some of you had the opportunity to visit our partner universities in Singapore, Malaysia, Poland, Italy, United Kingdom, Spain, Hungary, Netherlands, Czech Republic, Switzerland, among many others. Some have participated in study abroad programmes at Sciences Po, Saxion University, University of Navarra, Pontifical University of the Holy Cross, just to name a few. The University has also made efforts to integrate industry immersion into your curriculum as well as personalising your engagement with employers of the future through establishment of an industry mentoring programme.

Strathmore University endeavours to be at the forefront of research and innovation. Our researchers are engaged in projects that address critical societal challenges and drive progress in various fields such as healthcare management, the legal profession, agribusiness, financial analysis, software engineering, entrepreneurship and hospitality management. Some of you have had the opportunity to participate in the growing number of research projects that the University is engaged in thanks to collaboration with our partners.

Our strategy extends far beyond the classroom; we are dedicated to actively serving and engaging with our local and global communities. We take great pride in the significant contributions to society made by our students and faculty. This year, we are proud to introduce the Alumni Service to Society Award, honouring alumni who have shown exceptional commitment to serving others and creating meaningful impact in their communities. This award celebrates their dedication and inspires us all as we anticipate the continued positive influence our alumni will exert on the world.

As we reflect on this moment of celebration, we also look ahead to the future of our university. This year marks the beginning of an ambitious project: the construction of a state-of-the-art STEM complex aimed at empowering professionals in Science, Technology, Engineering, and Mathematics. This initiative will drive technological innovations that tackle global challenges. We invite each of you to join us in this noble endeavour as we strive to raise 20 million USD to realise this vision.

In closing, as you embark on your future endeavours, carry forward the values and knowledge you have gained at Strathmore University. Be bold, be innovative, and strive to make a positive impact in whatever path you choose. Congratulations to the Class of 2024!

We are immensely proud of you and excited for all that you will achieve.

Thank you.

VICE-CHANCELLOR'S MESSAGE FOR CLASS OF 2024

It's an absolute joy to be here with all of you today, celebrating this 20th Graduation Ceremony. This gathering is more than just a formal event; it's a heartwarming milestone in your journey. It symbolizes the start of a brand-new chapter, one that's filled with endless possibilities. After years of pouring your hearts into your studies, embracing challenges, and making countless sacrifices, this moment is all about honoring your dedication and success. Take a moment to bask in the pride of your accomplishments—you've truly earned it!

I would like to extend a special recognition to you Class of 2024. You embarked on your university journey in 2020 amidst the unprecedented challenges of the COVID-19 pandemic. No one knew then how it would all unravel, but your resilience, adaptability, and perseverance during those times – with help from your parents, guardians and faculty – pushed you to where you are today. You may not appreciate it yet, but all the adversity you faced then has toughened you and left you with invaluable qualities that will serve you well going forward.

As you now step out into the professional world, you may be wondering what will give you the greatest chances of success. In this era where new challenges and opportunities constantly emerge, particularly in the development of Africa and beyond, the world seeks professionals who are not only masters of their specialties, but are also fueled by passion, dedicated to excellence, and motivated by a spirit of service to others.

Embrace the call to be among those who, with diligence and expertise, contribute to building a prosperous Africa anchored in robust values that will endure for generations to come. You are unique, with special gifts to offer, and no one else can take your place in this vital task that awaits you. Embrace your role with confidence and dedication, knowing that you are an essential part of creating a better future for all. By embracing this approach to life, you will have lived up to the mission of Strathmore. Know that as you move forward from this place, a part of your essence will forever linger within these walls, making Strathmore University a cherished home that warmly welcomes you back whenever you return.

Today, as we gather for this joyous graduation ceremony, we honor the remarkable achievements of over 1,500 bold individuals poised to make their mark on the world. It's a moment of celebration, a time to look back on the transformative journey each of you has undertaken. Just a few years ago, you stepped through the doors of this university. Look around you—do you recognize the faces beside you?

Through your education, you've hopefully unearthed your true identity, discovered your life's purpose, and espoused the values that will guide you. And if you still don't have all the answers, not to worry. Life is a journey, and you will always keep learning and discovering. Embrace the journey ahead with open arms, knowing that every effort and sacrifice you make will pave the way for a brighter tomorrow.

As you look to the future, I urge you to commit to the principle of sustainable growth. It is essential to care for the people who have supported us and for the planet, our shared home for generations to come. Strathmore University embodies this commitment to sustainability, striving for excellence while prioritizing the well-being of our community and environment.

This year's theme—caring for people and planet—perfectly reflects our dedication to responsible growth and development. Let us not be confined by past glories or present successes; instead, let us always look forward, striving for continuous improvement and positive impact.

I encourage you to make use of all the services and opportunities offered by the Alumni Relations Office. Stay connected with your friends and classmates, keep up to date with all the activities at Strathmore, and continue to learn from the opportunities available. Every time you return to Strathmore, we want you to feel like you are coming back home. If you are moving to another region or city, look out for our alumni chapter there (or be the founder of one). Strathmore has always been your home—you belong here. So don't be a stranger.

Dr. Vincent Ogutu
Vice-Chancellor

PRO-CHANCELLOR'S GRADUATION SPEECH 2024

Our graduands, the Class of 2024, you have reached a truly grand destination! Congratulations! Today represents a milestone in your lives and the start of a whole new phase of your journey as young adults and professionals. This 20th graduation ceremony is significant for our University, marking the end of a chapter of academic formation and the beginning of your journey of service to society, embodying competence, integrity, and character.

Since its inception in August 1966, Strathmore University has grown from a handful of students to over 10,000 students in 2024! Despite this growth, our commitment to quality and excellence remains unwavering. At Strathmore, excellence goes beyond grades; it's about mastering what you learn. Our focus on personal and academic growth is evident in our teaching approach, which emphasises personalised attention. Our faculty members are dedicated to helping each and every student succeed. The holistic education you have received nurtures your intellectual, personal, spiritual, and professional development, preparing you to become well-balanced individuals.

As an institution, we have made an effort to be present in every aspect of your university experience - academic, social, and personal. We have always been committed to helping you become responsible, upright individuals for your professional, cultural, ethical, human, spiritual, and social growth.

These critical components are part of the Strathmore spirit, inspired by our founder, St. Josemaria Escriva. He taught us to face the problems of this world with a sense of the supernatural and to follow the principles of ethics. These principles do not undermine your personality; rather, they channel it. High ethical and moral standards lead you to the well-being of others and ultimately uphold the dignity of the human being, protecting it when others attempt to damage it. We encourage you to maintain a strong social commitment to society and the world, supporting the University in its mission. Your contribution will make others follow your example. And you will be promoting the Strathmore spirit.

Sustainable businesses must account for all resources and minimise harm to people and the planet. Unlike past practices where economic development neglected environmental and social impacts, future growth must ensure the capacity for future generations to meet their needs. Your generation must lead this transformation, prioritising community welfare and environmental sustainability alongside profit. Future business leaders must cater to the expectations of various stakeholders and consider the planet's future. This approach, known as sustainability or sustainable development, is essential for a better tomorrow.

I extend my heartfelt thanks to all parents, spouses, family members, and supporting partners present today. This celebration is as much yours as it is ours. Thank you for sharing in the successes of our graduates. I also express deep appreciation to everyone working at Strathmore University. You have passionately embraced a mission to serve society through the development of graduates who are capable of being servant leaders, key professionals, and ethical business leaders. You therefore go beyond empowering graduates to shaping the society we desire. Every person who works here helps us shape a person, a nation, a continent, and the world. You are our heroes, and your selfless work enables us to deliver on this mission.

Class of 2024, as you step into the world, remember you are not just graduates; you are pioneers, innovators, and leaders. Carry the torch of excellence, integrity, and service that defines Strathmore University. Embrace every challenge as an opportunity, and let your passion drive you to make a meaningful impact. Your journey is just beginning, and the world awaits the remarkable contributions only you can make.

Congratulations! Go make us proud!

Pro-Chancellor
